Changing display language

Windows 10 is able to have multiple languages installed simultaneously. Computers in college classrooms have primary language Czech and they also have installed English language. If you want to change display language for your user profile you can follow this simple guide.

Open "Start menu" and click on settings button.

In the windows settings panel choose "Čas a jazyk".

Then select submenu "Jazyk"

And select "English".

To apply changes, you should sign out and after that sign in again. Your user profile should be in English now.
